INFORMAL OBJECTION

Center for International Media Action, Common Frequency, Inc, and Prometheus Radio Project (“Petitioners”) hereby submit this Informal Objection to the Appendix A-Identified pending FM translator applications (“Applicants”). As entities desiring to provide new noncommercial service to the public at the earliest possible date, Petitioners broadly claims standing as a party of interest.¹ In 2011 Congress passed the Local Community Radio Act (“LCRA” or “the Act”).² LCRA Section 5 stipulates that the FCC shall ensure spectrum for Low Power FM radio. In 2012 the FCC derived measures to comply with the Act. Although placed into effect then, since 2014 enforcement for new translators has been absent. Petitioners contend Applicants do not include supporting evidence to fulfill spectrum vetting requirements within the Act. It is believed that all FM translator service applicants must comply with this law. Petitioners contend these applications currently do not present evidence of compliance. An analysis below of the LCRA provides interpretation of the law to elucidate the parameters for adherence. Petitioners believe that if the qualifications cannot be met, the applications must be dismissed.

I. THE LCRA ENSURES FM SPECTRUM FOR LOW-POWER FM STATIONS; TRANSLATOR APPLICATIONS MUST COMPLY WITH THIS.

Within the LCRA is language for “[e]nsuring availability of spectrum for low-power FM stations.” Section 5 of the Act is listed below in entirety::

Sec 5. Ensuring availability of spectrum for low-power FM stations

The Federal Communications Commission, when licensing new FM translator stations, FM booster stations, and low-power FM stations, shall ensure that—

- (1) licenses are available to FM translator stations, FM booster stations, and low-power FM stations;
- (2) such decisions are made based on the needs of the local community; and
- (3) FM translator stations, FM booster stations, and low-power FM stations remain equal in status and secondary to existing and modified full-service FM stations.

Prior to 2014, the Commission elicited measures for accounting for the LCRA. Since then, Commission has announced no formal processing regime to comply with the law, presumably defaulting to applicants to comply with the mandate. The law is emphatic of its application:

- (1) The intent from the title is interpreted from plain-word meaning: FM spectrum availability is ensured for low power FM stations.
- (2) The scrutiny of LCRA comes into consideration during the licensing process (“when licensing”) of new FM translators, booster stations, and low power FM stations. “When licensing” refers to scrutiny of proposal prior to granting the license, which could be (1) during short form processing, (2) during long form processing, (3) during minor or filing window-change modification, and (4) prior to granting the license (i.e. when the construction permit has been granted but the license to cover has not been granted). Pending applications are listed within Appendix A, but construction permits are excluded since Informal Objections cannot be filed against granted construction permits.

The following analyzes the requirements of each part of Section 5.

II. SECTION 5(1): LICENSING AVAILABILITY

Section 5(1) ensures licenses for FM translator and low power FMs stations are available. After the enactment of the Act in 2011, the FCC set a course to align application processing to this mandate. In early 2013 within the LPFM Sixth Report and Order, the Commission developed conditions for translators for ensure spectrum balancing:

We agree with the condition advocated by the Joint Petitioners and REC that the proposed translator station cannot preclude approval of a future LPFM application in the grid for that market, under the processing policy delineated in Section II.B of the Fourth Report and Order, or at the proposed out of grid transmitter site. To satisfy this condition, applicants must submit an LPFM preclusion study demonstrating that grant of the proposed translator station will not preclude approval of a future LPFM application. As we explained in the Fourth Report and Order, one of our broad principles for implementation of the LCRA is that our primary focus under Section 5(1) must be to ensure that translator licensing procedures do not foreclose or unduly limit future LPFM licensing, because the more flexible translator licensing standards will make it much easier to license new translator stations in the future. This condition is consistent with that broad principle.³

In fact, the prior LPFM Fourth Further Notice verified it was within the FCC's purview to limit translator applications to meet the terms of the LCRA: "...we conclude that adoption of the caps to safeguard the integrity of our licensing processes is consistent with Section 5's requirement to ensure that licenses are available to both LPFM and translator services.”⁴

The decision regarding Mattoon also aligned translators with large distance moves to comply with the LCRA.⁵ With regard to the LPFM filing window,⁶ the conservative spacing considerations within Section 73.807 implicitly conserved ample spectrum for future translator licensing, offering built-in compliance to the LCRA. A pedantic derivation of this fact need not be supplied here due to complexity. It is more eloquently demonstrated by the fact there have been a bevy of translator applications extending into major markets surpassing LPFM spectrum usage since the LPFM filing window in 2013.⁷ Figure 1 demonstrates a simplified circle-radius equivalent of translator coverage vs. LPFM coverage in select regions. Translators by far trump spectrum usage in comparison to LPFM⁸ (see next page).

⁴ Para 55. Creation of a Low Power Radio Service and Amendment of Service and Eligibility Rules for FM Broadcast Translator Stations, Fourth Report and Order and Third Order on Reconsideration, 27 FCC Rcd 3364 (2012) (“Fourth Report and Order”).

⁸ As of this writing there are 2,362 licensed LPFM stations; 9,057 licensed translators; and 5,699 pending translator applications

By 2014, LCRA compliance was forgotten. An all-you-can eat buffet of spectrum-grabbing occurred without moderation, including two filing windows to allow translators to move anywhere within 250 miles,⁹ and two cross service translator windows for new translators¹⁰ with no mention of the LCRA Section 5 anywhere.

The FCC provided extensive guidance and requirements¹¹ for pending Auction No. 83 translator applicants to demonstrate compliance with the LCRA prior to the 2013 LPFM filing window using such means as ownership caps and LPFM non-preclusion studies to assure ongoing spectrum availability in top markets. Translator applicants who failed to demonstrate compliance were dismissed.

The FCC was alerted to potential harmful results and LCRA violations from the (new) AM cross-service translator windows by a timely filing prior to the first such window and has not responded as of this writing.¹² The FCC has not formally revised filing forms to comport with LCRA Section 5.¹³ In light of these mixed messages, confusion from translator applicants is understandable, however these parties are not absolved of responsibility to uphold the LCRA. Translator applicants as far back as November 2013 are at risk of LCRA violation. This is not a hollow assertion, as a cursory examination of a small number of pending new-translator construction permits quickly revealed these, which would preclude the possibility of an LPFM station at the same location.¹⁴ Examples -- Facility ID 200034 Augusta, GA; 200042 Fairway, KS; 200045 Pittsburgh, PA; 203291 Brandon FL near Tampa; 203270 Dunedin, FL near Clearwater/Tampa; 203263 North Palm Beach, FL (remaining channels are unusable); 203245 Plano, IL; 203241 Covington, KY; 203215 Norco, LA (remaining channels are unusable); 203186 York, PA.

This Petition asserts that applicants nor the FCC can ignore this Congressional mandate; it is still on the books as an ongoing check for balancing FM spectrum use. The law asserts these pending application must address LCRA Section 5.

Within execution of translator processing, there can only one possible way to interpret Section 5(1):

- (1) When processing any LPFM or translator application up to the licensing stage, spectrum for future translator or LPFM must be demonstrated. This had previously occurred through 2013. Thus, Applicants must comply with Section 5(1) by demonstrating spectrum is additionally open for LPFM service on their applications.
- (2) The regimen within “1”, in theory, should steadily approach a 50-50 spectrum-use asymptote, achieving parity of licensing between LPFM and translator. Thus, the executional outcome of Section 5(1) is balanced LPFM-translator FM secondary service spectrum usage. This is not defined as parity between number of LPFM and number of translator facilities. Section 5 is explicit to define “availability” in terms of “spectrum.”

(3) Because there was a failure to comply with the LCRA over the last four cross-service translator filing opportunities, a secondary service spectrum service audit would appear compulsory in assessing the viability of these pending translators proposals. The LCRA mandate supersedes Commission objective regarding LPFM. If spectrum is highly skewed towards translator usage, the FCC must cancel the pending applications within a specific metropolitan area unless compliance is met under the law, or alternatively adapt LPFM rules to allow titration of LPFM broadcast power -- permitting ERP and HAAT upgrade¹⁵ -- or allow use of contour-to-contour method to meet this secondary service spectrum balancing. Several markets appear out of compliance relating to the LCRA from our own examples:¹⁶

III. SECTION 5(2): DECISIONS BASED ON THE NEEDS OF THE COMMUNITY.

Applicants make no reference to whether their proposals are based upon the needs of the community. Instead, they are asserting their private viewpoint that their proposed facility is needed for the community. It is clear based upon the data above that in many markets translator spectrum usage vastly exceeds low power FM usage. There is no data from these communities that espouse translator preference. Without unbiased/scientific polls undertaken by a third party, the needs of the community remain unascertained. Without this information, translator proposals in translator-laden spectrum markets must be denied.

IV. SECTION 5(3): TRANSLATORS AND LPFM ARE EQUAL IN STATUS.

The LCRA asserts that translator and LPFM services “remain equal in status” and “secondary to existing and modified full-service FM stations.” From the customary definition of service status, secondary services have to yield to all primary service stations. But the key operator within Section 5(3) is translator and LPFM must remain equal in status. This effectively means, by law, the FCC cannot enforce rules that give one service preference above the other service in relation to signal engineering. However, the FCC has informally sanctioned the practice of allowing translators to short-space existing LPFM facilities (i.e., allowing translator proposals to be spaced shorter what LPFM services are allowed to propose to translators) without legally testing the issue. This, by definition, affords a higher status to translators. This practice is in direct violation of Section 5(3).

Within short-spacings, the translator applicant is free to propose endless minor changes and modification around the LPFM in perpetuity, but the LPFM is locked into its coordinate position from moving any closer to the translator. The bias preemptively deems service preference to the translator party, with the LPFM party saddled with one-way mutual exclusivity. The practice would appear in violation of Ashbacker,¹⁸ where applicants subject to such procedures must be treated equally and fairly. “The Ashbacker decision . . . held that the Commission must use the same set of procedures to process the applications of all similarly situated persons who come before it seeking the same license.”¹⁹ “The ability to compete on an equal basis . . . is the essence of Ashbacker.”²⁰ If translators and low power services are decreed equal in status, and translators are given preemptive placement rights above LPFM, any short-spaced entity is conflicted with one-way mutual exclusivity. The translator applicant is thus competing for spectrum on an unfair basis. Appendix C includes applications that are in violation of Section 5(3).

V. CONCLUSION

The demands of the LCRA Section 5 must be accounted for by law within applications for new and modified/changed translators. Petitioners believe that Applicants, in addition to all translator construction permit parties, must demonstrate this prior to licensing or be subject to dismissal or rescindment.

AFFIRMED STANDING AS PETITIONER

I, Paul Bame, am a resident of Philadelphia, PA and listen to low-power FM station WPPM-LP. WPPM-LP is short spaced to translator application BNPFT-20180508ABL (Camden, NJ) which is to repeat AM station WEMG (Camden, NJ), and which has not demonstrated LCRA compliance. With a co-channel translator located 12km (39km required) Northwest of its location, WPPM-LP will be unable to relocate in that direction which may harm WPPM-LP and myself as a listener. I affirm that this statement and those within the instant filing are true and accurate to the best of my knowledge.
